USPTO Update Replaced

This shipment contains a replacement disk for the combined CIPO + USPTO disk sent earlier this week. Nothing has changed in the CIPO Update

This disk contains both CIPO and USPTO updates. You should install the USPTO Update dated December 20, 2007. You should install the CIPO Update dated December 18, 2007 only if you did not install it from the earlier disk. It does no harm to re-install it.

The USPTO Update from December 17, 2007 had a problem with the Registration pages, which prevented some registration pages and extended previews from being displayed or reported.

We identified this problem in our testing just after shipping the disks, and telephoned all customers affected by the problem, probably before they received the disks.

Searches with the USPTO update disk were not affected by the problem—only the display and reporting of some hits were affected.

The CIPO Update was not affected by the problem.

Olympic and Paralympic Marks Act Comes Into Force

In preparation for the upcoming Vancouver 2010 Winter Olympic Games, the Olympic and Paralympic Marks Act came into force on December 17, 2007.

This legislation has been enacted for the protection of marks relating to the Olympic and the Paralympic games. Schedules I and II of the Act identify the words and symbols that are protected by the new legislation.

We encourage you to consult this new legislation for further details.
